Stephen C. Key is a partner at Key Harrington Barnes, PC, a management-side labor & employment law boutique in Dallas, Texas, where his practice is divided between litigation of employment disputes, assisting clients with union matters, advising clients with human resources matters that arise on a day-to-day basis and performing management training.

Stephen is certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization as a specialist in labor & employment law and has been recognized by his peers as a Texas Super Lawyer according to Texas Monthly magazine, a distinction reserved for the top 5% of Texas labor attorneys. Stephen is passionate about fighting for the rights of the small business owner, who he refers to as “the real ‘little guy.’”
